

CONTENTS

|   | Page |
|---|------|
| A Tradition of Discussion and Debate. G.A. Davis . . . . .  | 1    |
| Reapportionment of Communicative Burden in Aphasia: A Study ofNarrative Interactions. C. Linebaugh, K. Kryzer, S. Oden, P. Myers . . .                                  | 4    |
| The Application of a Process Evaluation Form for Aphasic Individualsin a Small Group Setting. F. Loverso, H. Young-Charles, J. Tonkovich . . .                          | 10   |
| Establishing a Communication Profile in Adult Aphasia: Analysis ofCommunicative Acts and Conversational Sequences. G. Gurland,S. Chwat, S. Gerber Wollner . . . . . | 18   |
| Measuring Communication Competence in Global Aphasia. P. Houghton,J. Pettit, M. Towey . . . . .   | 28   |
| A Modified Scoring Technique for Communicative Abilities inDaily Living. C. Bartlett . . . . .  | 40   |
| A Questionnaire for Surveying Personal and Communicative Style.C. Swindell, G. Pashek, A. Holland . . . . .   | 50   |
| Descriptions of Husband-Wife Communication Pre- and Post-Aphasia.E. Webster, J. Dans, P. Saunders . . . . .   | 64   |
| Communicative Value of Self-Cues in Aphasia. C. Tompkins,R. Marshall . . . . .  | 75   |
| Revision Strategies in Aphasia (Abstract). M. Newhoff,J. Tonkovich, S. Schwartz, E. Burgess . . . . .   | 83   |
| Consideration of PICA Subtest Variability in Cases of AphasiaSecondary to Blunt Head Trauma. R. Fleming, D.J. Hubbard,L. Schinsky, K. Datta . . . . .               | 85   |
| Some Contributions of Information Processing Theory to AphasiaDiagnosis. K. Fukuzawa . . . . .  | 93   |
| Predicting Post-Treatment Scores on the Boston Diagnostic AphasiaExamination. A. VanDemark . . . . .  | 103  |
| CT Scan Correlates of Recovery of Auditory Comprehension.O. Selnes, N. Niccum, A. Rubens . . . . .  | 112  |
| Linguistic and Behavioral Deficits Following Thalamic Hemorrhage.J. Aten, B. White, H. Pribram . . . . .  | 119  |
| Response to Treatment in a Case of Crossed Aphasia. R.T. Wertz . . . . .  | 129  |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Clinical Management of a Patient With Pure Word Deafness.P. Doyle, A. Holland . . . . .  | 138 |
| Microcomputerized Auditory Comprehension Training. R. Mills . . . . .  | 147 |
| A Computerized Treatment System for Chronic Aphasic Patients.R. Katz, V. Tong Nagy . . . . .   | 153 |
| Treating Auditory Comprehension Deficits With a Tactile Aid: APreliminary Report. R. Wertz, P. Divenyi, G. Skalbeck,C. Dwyer, J. Baxter, F. Saunders . . . . . | 161 |
| The Contribution of Clinical Intelligence and ArtificialAphasiology to Clinical Aphasiology and Artificial Intelligence.H. Gigley, J. Duffy . . . . .          | 170 |
| An Analysis of Learning, Generalization, and Maintenance of Verbsby an Aphasic Patient. T. Prescott, M. Selinger, F. Loverso . . . . .                             | 178 |
| Gestural Sign (Amer-Ind) as a Facilitator of Verbalization inPatients With Aphasia. K. Kearns, N. Simmons, C. Sisterhen . . . . .                                  | 183 |
| Memory Performance as a Function of Stimulus Input Characteristicsfor Aphasic and Normal Adults. F. Loverso, R. Craft . . . . .                                    | 192 |
| Comprehension of Directly and Indirectly Pictured Verbs by Aphasicand Nonaphasic Listeners. R. Brookshire, L. Nicholas . . . . .                                   | 200 |
| Comprehension of Coherent and Noncoherent Narrative Discourseby Aphasic and Nonaphasic Listeners (Abstract).M. Wegner, R. Brookshire, L. Nicholas . . . . .    | 207 |
| Rate of Speech of Health Care Providers During Interactions withAphasic and Nonaphasic Individuals. J. Gravel, L. LaPointe . . . . .                               | 208 |
| Interactive Influences During Oral Reading in Wernicke's Aphasia.(Abstract) R. Pierce . . . . .  | 212 |
| Testing the Regression Hypothesis Using Dimensional and Spatio-Temporal Pairs. S. Finkelstein, R. Sogin . . . . .  | 213 |
| The Frequency and Amplitude of Fluctuating Auditory Processing inAphasic and Nonaphasic Brain-Damaged Persons. M. McNeil,K. Odell, T. Campbell . . . . .       | 220 |
| The Reliability of Patterns of Auditory Processing Deficits:Evidence from the Revised Token Test. C. Hageman, M. McNeil,S. Rucci-Zimmer, D. Cariski . . . . .  | 230 |
| Articulatory Consistency and Variability in Apraxia of Speech(Abstract). A. Mlcoch, F. Darley, J. Noll . . . . .   | 235 |
| Error Patterns in Apraxia of Speech. C. Bowman, L. Althoff,N. Anderson . . . . .   | 239 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| An Analysis of the Productive Errors Made by Pure Apractic Speakers with Differing Loci of Lesions. P. Square, F. Darley, R. Sommers . . .               | 245 |
| Simultaneous Perceptual-Physiological Method for Studying Apraxia of Speech. D. Fromm, J. Abbs, M. McNeil, J. Rosenbek . . . . .                         | 251 |
| Latency and Utterance Time in Aphasia During Confrontation Naming. J. Noll, B. White . . . . .   | 263 |
| Word Retrieval Latencies for Aphasic Syndromes. R. Marshall, S. Neuburger, P. Sakellaris . . . . .   | 273 |
| A Training Matrix Approach for Gestural Acquisition by the Agrammatic Patient. J. Tonkovich, F. Loverso . . . . .  | 283 |
| Generative Use of Locatives in Multiword Utterances in Agrammatism: A Matrix Training Approach. C. Thompson, L. McReynolds, C.Vance . . .                | 289 |
| Artificial Language Learning in Brain Damaged Adults Using a Matrix Training Procedure. A. Salvatore . . . . .   | 298 |
| Linguistic Impairment in Closed Head Injured Patients: The Role of the Clinical Aphasiologist in Assessment and Treatment. R. Gillis, M. Dixon . . . . . | 308 |
| Error Recognition Utilized to Improve Written Language in a Head Injured Patient. K. Stanton, K. Yorkston, K. Aune, J. Hedges . .                        | 325 |
| A Comparison of the Communication Skills of Patients with Cortical or Subcortical Right Hemisphere Damage. R. Brooks, B. Adamovich . . .                 | 338 |
| When is Aphasia Aphasia? The Problem of Closed Head Injury. A. Holland   | 345 |
| Language Deficit in Aphasia and Dementia: The Same As, Different From, or Both? R. T. Wertz . . . . .  | 350 |
| When is Aphasia Aphasia? J. Rosenbek . . . . .   | 360 |